

AGREEMENT SIGNED BY THE OWNERS UNIFORM SCALE PROMISED TO THE MINERS.

Big Advance Step Taken—Strikers May Agree to a Compromise Pending Arbitration—Judge Refuses to Grant An Injunction—Iowa Miners Quit Work.

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 2.—The board of directors of the New York and Cleveland Gas Coal Company met Wednesday and authorized President W. P. De Armit to sign the uniformity agreement. This is a big step toward better conditions of the coal trade after Jan. 1. Many large firms have been waiting on Mr. De Armit, and will now attach their signatures to the agreement. Even if the miners lose the strike it is certain now that uniformity will prevail and higher wages will be paid, beginning with the first of the year. Nothing was done at the joint meeting of large and small coal operators. The alacrity with which National President Ratchford seemed to jump at the proposition to compromise the strike at 64 cents pending arbitration changed the minds of all operators. They decided to do nothing until they see what action the miners' national executive board takes on the 64-cent proposition.

Even if Ratchford and others accept the 64-cent rate pending arbitration there is no certainty that the strike will end without rioting at the camps in the vicinity of the De Armit mines. Some of the district executive officials are opposed to any compromise and say any action in Columbus must be ratified by a delegate convention in Pittsburg.

Col. W. P. Rend of Chicago said: "If other operators are afraid to talk of our plans I am not. Within three days we will be prepared to ship into this district hundreds, yes, thousands of men if necessary. We have never abated in our preparations to start the mines and will undoubtedly have them running in a few days. Few operators believe the miners' officials in Columbus will accept the 64-cent proposition."

The operators who believe in "government by injunction" were given a setback by Judge McIlvaine of Washington county Wednesday. Cook & Sons, owners of the McGovern mines, tried to have District President Patrick Dolan and others attached for contempt of court. Judge McIlvaine discharged the rule and scored the methods by which injunctions and attachments for contempt are sought to be used to secure punishment for alleged criminal acts.

MINERS IN CONFERENCE. Meeting of the Executive Board Being Held at Columbus.

Columbus, Ohio, Sept. 2.—President Ratchford returned from the St. Louis conference Wednesday afternoon, and immediately called a meeting of the Mine Workers' national executive board. Owing to the fact that the members of the board are scattered it was found impossible to hold a full meeting, and the conference was postponed to 8 o'clock this morning. Under the constitution of the mine workers the 64-cent proposition must be submitted to a national convention of the locals, as the present strike was ordered by a national convention. Any action decided upon by the executive board must be submitted to the miners, which insures a further considerable delay.

Iowa Miners Quit Work.
Des Moines, Iowa, Sept. 2.—The miners' strike in Polk county has been officially declared. A conference committee was appointed to confer with the operators to see if a settlement of some sort could not be reached. The miners ask $1 a ton, but there is a sentiment in favor of accepting a reasonable compromise. There are 18 mines and about 400 men affected.

Small Strike in Kansas.
Pittsburg, Kan., Sept. 2.—The miners at Arnott & Co.'s shaft quit work on account of a misunderstanding in regard to the screens.

ELECT EX-GOV. HOARD. National Congress Also Indorses Postal Savings Banks.

St. Paul, Minn., Sept. 2.—The features of the second day's session of the National Farmers' congress were the election of officers, the reconsideration of the motion passed selecting Fort Worth as the place for holding the next convention and the indorsement of postal savings banks. President B. F. Clayton, Secretary Stahl, and ex-Gov. Hoard of Wisconsin were nominated for president. The vote showed a good majority for Hoard: 176 to 85½ for Stahl and 60 for Clayton. The effort to make the vote unanimous in compliment to the ex-governor was futile, many delegates voting against such motion. Secretary Stahl was re-elected by acclamation, and N. G. Spalding of New York was likewise honored for treasurer.

Extra Session for Michigan.
Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 2.—Railroad Commissioner Wesselius is authority for the positive statement that Governor Pingree will call a special session of the legislature to be held soon after the nondays. The governor, he says, will submit his views on needed legislation in a way that his proposition cannot be mistaken, and the legislators will have to go on record as to how they stand before the next campaign opens.

DEADLOCK AT LINCOLN. Silver Factions Not Agreed—Unable to Make Up a Fusion Ticket.

Lincoln, Neb., Sept. 2.—The wave of silver enthusiasm among the bimetalists of Nebraska reached the apex Wednesday. The occasion was the triangular state bimetallic convention. At 1 o'clock the three branches of the organization were simultaneously convened. They were in such proximity that the cheers of the enthusiastic throng mingled like the roar of a great storm. It was practically one convention. Candidates and factions were ignored and the delegates intermingled and exchanged views on but one topic—fusion in the interest of the success of bimetallicism. It was this idea that predominated everything.

After animated speeches by chairmen of the three branches conference committees were appointed as previously arranged by the central committee to arrange terms of fusion, and the meetings adjourned to the capital campus pending the deliberations. At 2 o'clock in the morning the joint conference committee was in a deadlock, with no prospects for fusion. The meeting was a star-chamber session, but as near as can be learned hour ballots were taken to decide who should be given the supreme judge nomination, but they all tied. Discussions followed till midnight and two more ballots were taken without result. The committee then considered the question of reporting back to the conventions and recommending that a mass-convention be held and each delegation enabled to take a full vote.

The Democratic platform renews faith in the national principles of free silver coinage at 16 to 1, denounces the demonetization of silver as a crime, favors liberal pensions for veterans, declares government by injunction to be a false doctrine and menacing to the very foundation of the republic, opposes the annexation of Hawaii, declares the Dingley bill the apex of vicious legislation and reiterates faith in the income tax as a means of raising revenue.

The populist platform declares loyalty to the free coinage of silver at the ratio of 16 to 1. The money plank continues: "We pledge the people that there shall be no faltering until private corporations are stripped of the privilege of issuing money and until all our currency, whether coin or paper, shall be issued by the government and shall all be standard money of the United States."

TO DEAL WITH SPAIN. President McKinley May Call a Special Session.

New York, Sept. 2.—A dispatch from Washington says that Congress called in special session to consider the Cuban situation is a probable outcome of Minister Woodford's mission to Madrid. A prompt rejection on the part of Spain of the offer of friendly mediation which he will bear will bring about the inevitable message to Congress which was forecast in these dispatches on June 6. That message, giving in detail the latest phases of the Cuban situation and reporting the rejection by Spain of the good offices of the United States, would be followed by but a single course of action—prompt intervention on the part of the administration, backed by the unanimous and cordial support of Congress.

Report on Illinois Crops.
Springfield, Ill., Sept. 2.—The statistical report of the state board of agriculture for Aug. 1 is an index to the vast wealth that comes from the soil of the Prairie state. The report says that 1,938,442 acres, or 53 per cent of the whole area seeded to wheat, was destroyed by floods or winter killed and plowed up, leaving only 898,786 acres for harvest. The greatest loss was in the central part of the state, where but 23 per cent of the fall planting was harvested. The quality of the yield was good, and averaged eleven bushels to the acre. The total yield was 10,255,525 bushels. The average price paid to farmers Aug. 1 was 67 cents and the total value of the crop raised was $6,924,013.

Indianapolis Swept By Wind.
Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—A terrific windstorm swept over this city at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. No loss of life has been reported, but the damage to property was large. The cloud came from the west, and for fifteen minutes the velocity of the wind was sixty-five miles an hour. Many buildings were unroofed, and several private residences were overturned.

Monthly Debt Statement.
Washington, Sept. 2.—The monthly statement of the public debt, issued at the Treasury Department shows the debt less cash in the treasury to be $1,098,335,121, which is an increase for the month of $14,888,475. This increase is accounted for by a corresponding decrease in the amount of cash on hand.

Miners Returning in Disgust.
Sea Wash., Sept. 2.—Disgusted gold seekers are commencing to return from the Skagaway and Dyea passes. Six arrived last night on the Farrallon, and they say that in two weeks as many will be coming back as the steamers are now taking up.

RUSH ANNEXATION OF THE ISLAND REASON FOR THE RETURN OF MINISTER HATCH TO HAWAII

Island Statesmen Confer—Annexation Recently Signed in Washington Is to Be Ratified At Once—Japan's Acceptance of Arbitration Is Not Assured.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—The steamer Australia, from Honolulu direct, arrived Wednesday with the following Hawaiian advices.

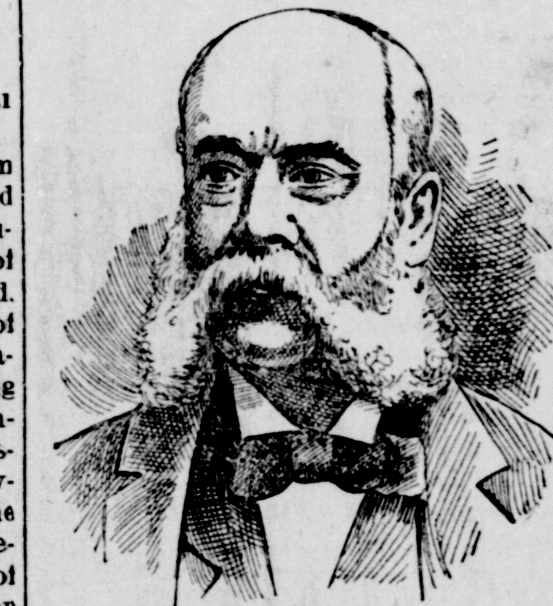

Francis M. Hatch, minister to Washington, arrived Aug. 20 with special information which will require the attention of both government and senate, and a secret notice has already been issued to the members of the latter body calling upon them to meet in extra session Sept. 6 to consider the question. Meanwhile Minister Hatch is in almost constant consultation with President Dole and his cabinet. The lawmakers will be asked to ratify the annexation treaty recently signed in Washington, and as a majority of the members favor annexation the matter will be rushed through. The reason for the extra session of the senate is a matter of conjecture, and much curiosity is evinced. A senator is author for the statement that Minister Hatch brought word from President McKinley that he had resolved to call congress two months earlier than usual for the purpose of disposing of the treaty before the regular session, and this theory appears to find favor with other senators.

It is said that Japan's acceptance of the offer of arbitration is so vague that the President and his cabinet are in a quandary. There are rumors of a split in the cabinet over the question, and it is said that the intervention of the senate is required to prevent an open rupture.

Opinion at Washington.

Washington, Sept. 2.—There is no disposition among officials here to question the correctness of the statement in the dispatches from Hawaii to the effect that Minister Hatch hurried to Honolulu with the special purpose of securing annexation action by the Hawaiian government in advance of the meeting of our congress. It is not believed that the President has any intention of calling a special session for the purpose of ratification.

Woodford at San Sebastian.
San Sebastian, Sept. 2.—Stewart L. Woodford, United States minister to Spain, arrived here Wednesday. Extra precautions had been taken by the authorities to prevent any hostile demonstrations being made, but these apparently were unnecessary, as the behavior of the crowd that had gathered to witness the minister's arrival was perfectly satisfactory.

Falls For Over $3,000,000.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 2.—The Evening Post says that private advices have been received here to the effect that Enrico Mathou, the well-known banker and promoter of several gigantic schemes in Central America, has failed for over $3,000,000. His principal creditors are said to be Europeans, but a San Francisco firm is said to be a sufferer to the extent of $180,000. While Mathou's assets are estimated at $2,500,000, they consist for the most part of property in the vicinity of Guatemala, which cannot be disposed of for half their assessed valuation. The cause assigned for the failure is the heavy depreciation of silver and the collapse of the real estate boom inaugurated by President Barrios several years ago.

Gen. Weyler Takes the Field.

Key West, Fla., Sept. 2.—Gen. Weyler has taken the field again. He left Havana to go to Managua. His forces now are near Guines, at a place called Villareal. A fierce combat has occurred in Santiago de Cuba province. The forces of Gen. Linares Pombo and Col. Varasdelroy were attacked by the insurgents. The fight lasted several hours, but the Spaniards were defeated, losing twenty-one killed and forty-five wounded, including Capt. Jose Bonet and three officers.

Premier Laurier Returns.

Ottawa, Ont., Sept. 2.—Canada's premier, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, received a royal welcome on his return home from England. He was met at the station by the mayor and city council and conducted to Parliament hill, where an address was presented to him on behalf of the citizens. Ten thousand people were present.

METHODISTS FAVOR LAY DELEGATES OHIO CONFERENCE IS CONSIDERING THE QUESTION.

Wanted By Millionaires—Forty-Sixth Annual Session of the Cincinnati Methodist Episcopal Conference—Iowa Christian Endeavor Convention at Dubuque.

Springfield, Ohio, Sept. 2.—The forty-sixth annual session of the Cincinnati Methodist Episcopal conference was called to order Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock by Bishop W. F. Mallalieu of Boston, who will preside during the conference deliberations. There were 155 ministers present at the opening.

On motion of the Rev. Frank G. Mitchell of Piqua, the board of examiners was authorized to accept literary certificates from the following schools: Ohio Wesleyan University, De Pauw University, Northwestern University and Boston University, and certificates from Drew, Boston, Garrett and De Pauw divinity schools. Some ministers favored admitting students with literary certificates from any college, especially Ohio State University and Wittenberg, but these were opposed by the Bishop and other prominent members. The afternoon was devoted to committee meetings and to an address by Dr. William Runyon.

The lay conference meets to-day and will have one of the most interesting sessions yet held by that society. H. G. Marshall of this city is the president and says that the questions to be brought up are of national importance—such as an equal lay representation with the ministers in the conference deliberations, and the forming of a national lay association, also the abolition of the time limit for ministers. It is said several millionaires are back of this movement to secure representation in the conference.

The Rev. D. C. Garrison of the Methodist Protestant church stated that eventually this would be accomplished, and that this meant that the time was near when the Methodist Episcopal and the Methodist Protestant churches will be united.

IOWA ENDEAVOR CONVENTION.

Second Day's Program—Three Cities Want Next Meeting.

Dubuque, Iowa, Sept. 2.—A stormy morning greeted the second day's convention of the Iowa Christian Endeavorers. The exercises were begun with a song service. An address to young men was delivered by William Shaw, of Boston, treasurer of the United Society. E. R. McCauley, of Cedar Rapids, spoke on "Where Are the Young Men?" "Why Are So Few Young Men in the Churches?" was the subject upon which C. A. Deihl, of West Union, spoke. Walter S. Renison, of Sioux City, talked upon "What Shall Be Done to Get Hold of the Young Men?"

At 10:30 o'clock was held what was designated as the "still hour," and the service was led by Prof. S. K. Stevenson, of Iowa City. At 11 o'clock John P. Gavitt, of Chicago Commons, delivered an excellent address on "Christian Citizenship."

The afternoon's programme consisted of "A half-day with the juniors." There were a number of interesting six-minute talks, and an open parliament was conducted by Miss Kate Haus, of St. Louis, who also later delivered an address.

Three cities, Waterloo, Ottumwa and Marshalltown, are after the next convention.

Conference of United Brethren.

Kokomo, Ind., Sept. 2.—The second day's session of the fifty-second annual conference of the United Brethren Church brought a largely augmented attendance. The conference is the "liberal" branch of the United Brethren Church. The reports made show some surprising figures. At the time of the split in the general conference, eight years ago, both branches had about the same membership. Now the "conservatives," who oppose secret orders and nearly all forms of amusement, have a membership of but 25,000, while the "liberals" number 225,000.

Swedish Methodists.

Kewanee, Ill., Sept. 2.—The first day's session of the Central Swedish Methodist conference was held Wednesday at Galva. Many preachers are in attendance. Bishop S. M. Merrill, senior bishop of the Methodist Episcopal Church, who will preside over the conference, gave a short address directed to the ministers present. The regular business of the conference began to-day.

Colored Methodists in Session.

Terre Haute, Ind., Sept. 2.—Bishop Arnett presided at the fifty-eighth annual session of the Indiana conference of the African Methodist Episcopal Church, which began Wednesday with a large attendance, and will continue until Monday.

Village Almost Wiped Out.

Grand Rapids, Mich., Sept. 2.—Berlin, a little town twelve miles from here, had a disastrous fire early Wednesday morning which nearly wiped out the business portion of the village. Six buildings were burned, including the hotel and public halls. The losses aggregate $8,000.

THE BASEBALL REPORT.

Standing of the Clubs in the Various Leagues.

There was a general shake-up in the second division as the result of yesterday's games. Philadelphia moved up two points, Washington following suit, tying Pittsburg, while Louisville dropped two. Every eastern team won. Baltimore still retains a slight lead over the men from the Hub, which it will as long as St. Louis is its opponent. Standing of the clubs:

SAY SHE IS ALIVE.

Defense Will Produce Witnesses Who Have Recently Seen Mrs. Luetgert.

Chicago, Sept. 2.—Frank Odorsky testified against Luetgert yesterday afternoon in the ninth day of the trial. His evidence chiefly related to the contents of the vat in which the state claims the body of Mrs. Luetgert was destroyed, and is considered favorable to the prosecution. After court adjourned a significant conference was held. Those present were Attorney Phalen, of counsel for the defense; Arnold Luetgert, son of the prisoner; William Charles, Luetgert's friend and former business partner, and one of the most prominent criminal lawyers in the city. The purpose of this conference was not revealed.

New evidence is said to be in the possession of the defense to show that Mrs. Luetgert ran away from home instead of being lured into the factory to her death. A large number of articles of wearing apparel were missing when she went away. Many witnesses will be called who will swear they saw a woman after May 1 whom they recognized as Mrs. Luetgert. The testimony of these witnesses will be in conformity with that of the persons in Kenosha, Wis., who will say that they saw Mrs. Luetgert in that place May 5.

CASHIER AND MONEY GONE.

State Bank of Ambia, Ind., Said to Have Been Robbed of a Large Sum.

Indianapolis, Ind., Sept. 2.—State Auditor Daily received a message from Bank Examiner Milkin Wednesday stating that Frederick McConnell, cashier of the state bank at Ambia, has disappeared with the cash. The auditor at once sent the examiner to the village, who, upon arriving there, learned that the cashier had been gone since Saturday. The examiner says the cashier took with him at least $5,000, and may have taken a great deal more. Dispatches from Ambia say the amount taken is $40,000. All the money is gone from the safe. No entries have been made in the books for a month.

Cotton Crop of Texas.

Galveston, Texas, Sept. 2.—The annual trade review of the Galveston News for Sept. 1 places the Texas cotton crop for the season at 2,177,025 bales.

Wish Andrews to Stay.

Providence, R. I., Sept. 2.—The corporation of Brown university has rejected President E. Benjamin Andrews' resignation.

FOX RIVER RISES AND MILLS START

TWO DAYS' RAIN HELPS THE PAPER MAKERS.

There Has Been Concern As to the Stage of the Water During September, For Orders Were Beginning to Come in Just As the Power [Failed].

Appleton, Sept. 2.—[Special]—The heavy rains of Tuesday and Wednesday have raised the level of the Fox river, and as a result all the paper mills and pulp mills will start at once. It is a blessing to manufacturers, as the paper business is picking up and they will be enabled now to fill orders, running on full time. The water is now above the crest of the Menasha dam and will probably remain that way until late in the season. The government has at last agreed to permit owners of mills to put in flush boards. This will save water in the spring and will enable them to run when the dry season comes in July and August.

The question of responsibility for overflow damage has made mill owners unwilling to put up flush boards on their own responsibility as they had the right to do.

Foresters' Meeting Is Ended.

Green Bay, Wis., Sept. 2.—At Wednesday's session of the Catholic Order of Foresters Marinette, Wis., was selected as the place of the next annual meeting. T. J. Callen, Milwaukee, was chosen state chief ranger. Among the important business of the convention was a resolution that the incoming state officers appoint a committee of five within the next sixty days for the purpose of preparing a plan for creating and maintaining a reserve fund in the state court. This plan will be presented to the 1898 convention, and if approved will be sent to the national court at its next session as a resolution.

Government Raises Wages.

LaCrosse, Wis., Sept. 2.—Capt. W. A. Thompson, who has charge of the government improvement work on the Mississippi river, has received orders from Washington to advance the pay of laborers employed on government work from 75 cents to $1 a day. Laborers are fed and housed in addition to wages by the government.

Strong Speech By Debs.

St. Louis, Sept. 2.—Eugene V. Debs spoke for one hour Wednesday night to 800 people assembled at National Hall under the auspices of the Social Democracy. The newspapers, corporations and the whole system of government were arraigned, condemned and ridiculed. He said in part: "The Supreme Court of the United States is a breeder of revolution, and a few more injunctions will see all of us walking side by side and fighting for the cause of humanity. I am anxious; I am ready. The time is ripe and it is coming sure."

Work for the Supreme Court.

Washington, Sept. 2.—The docket for the first term of the United States supreme court, which will begin on the 11th of October, is being prepared. It contains to date 446 cases, showing an addition of sixty-three cases since the adjournment of the court in May. The creation of the United States courts of appeals has caused a falling off of from 1,000 to 1,500 cases per year in the cases brought to this court from the United States circuit courts. The decreased number indicates that the court will soon catch up with its business.

Great Fly-Wheel Bursts.

Portsmouth, Ohio, Sept. 2.—A forty-ton fly wheel at the Burgess Steel and Iron Works was burst by a 4,800 pound ingot stopping a roll. The mill was crowded with workmen, including day and night crews. John Murphy was hurled thirty feet and badly bruised. The roof was riddled. Beams two feet square were cut in two like straws. The mill was set on fire and the furnace was destroyed. The loss cannot be estimated, but will close the mill until a new fly wheel is secured. How the great crowd in the mill escaped is a mystery.

National C. T. U. Convention.

Buffalo, N. Y., Sept. 2.—The twenty-fourth annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union will be held in Music hall here Oct. 29 to Nov. 3, 1897. It will immediately follow the fourth biennial convention of the World's W. C. T. U.—Oct. 23 to 26—which, in its turn will follow the annual convention of the W. C. T. U. of the Dominion of Canada; the last two to be held in the city of Toronto, Ontario.

Outbreak on Malabar Coast.

Madras, Sept. 2.—An outbreak is reported among the Mohlars, or "national" Mohammedans, of the Malabar coast. It has not yet assumed serious proportions. Malabar is a district of India in the Madras presidency and on the west coast of India, but the term Malabar coast is also applied to the west coast of India in general.

Seth Low Nominated.

New York, Sept. 2.—The opening step in the first municipal campaign for the control of Greater New York was taken Wednesday when the Citizens' Union placed Seth Low, president of Columbia College, in nomination for mayor.

MODEL DAIRY FARM ON THE LAKE SHORE

JANESVILLE MEN OWN A FINE PROPERTY.

Modern Machinery and Modern Scientific Knowledge Used in the Manufacture of High Grade Butter—Natural Advantages Afforded—Fine Shooting and Fishing.

Three Janesville men are the proprietors of the model dairy farm of Wisconsin, "Caracou farm," at Lake Koshkonong, owned by Skavlem, Valentine & Valentine, which consists of four hundred acres or more of fine land. It is situated on the western shore of the lake. They have fine pasturage, their blooded Jersey cattle feeding on blue grass, white clover, red top, pea vine, blue joint, and all the grasses most adapted to dairy feeding. These cattle are of an exceptionally high grade, they being the American Jersey Cattle Club stock. A specialty is made of the raising of fine cattle from this herd. About forty cows are milked, and the butter turned out is fine as can be made.

A complete creamery, operated by steam, and supplied with all modern machinery, is located upon the farm, and the butter is made in conformity with scientific and hygienic principles. Dairyman is Scientific.

Nasot brothers are in charge of the farm. Jens Nasot, the dairyman, is a graduate of the State University dairy school and is thoroughly posted in his calling.

A visit to the Caracou cow barns shows the visitors the possibility of modern dairying. The barns are absolutely clean and odorless at all times. The interior of the buildings are kept neatly whitewashed and the floors are sprinkled with lime and land plaster each day.

The creamery is isolated from the barns, the milk from the herd is put through a separator of modern perfection, which takes all dirt and impurities out of the milk—although next to none is found in Caracou milk. Thus it will be seen that Caracou butter is of the highest possible grade. It is made with the most modern of scientific appliances, and by men who have made a careful study of the art—for art it is. The butter is sold to consumers in this city at special prices and it is guaranteed to be as pure and fine as can be produced.

The Shooting Club.

H. L. Skavlem, C. L. Valentine, and A. M. Valentine are the owners of the farm.

A. M. Valentine has a cozy residence on the farm, while the Nasot brothers occupy a house by themselves.

The "stone house" built by Capt. Lee, the former owner of the farm, and the shooting privileges of the land, are owned by the Caracou club. The stock in this club composes some twenty shares, several of which are owned in Janesville.

Caracou farm is a veritable land of plenty. Three orchards furnish more apples than can be used. Melons, grapes and other fruits flourish as the soil seems especially adapted to their culture. Beside the land used for pasturage—including the natural park on Koshkonong creek—many broad acres are cultivated, raising tobacco and corn. Marsh hay grows in abundance and in fact nature has smiled on the farm in all ways.

The shooting and fishing privileges are without doubt the finest on the lake, the shore being well protected with rushes and wild rice affording exceptionally good "cover" for the shooters and feeding grounds for the ducks. Pickerel, black bass and pike are caught in abundance, not to speak of smaller fish.

The farm is half way between Fort Atkinson and Edgerton. Summer, Jefferson county, is the nearest post office.

PARTED FOR MANY YEARS

John and Thomas Murray See Their Brother, After 42 Years.

NEW RECORD FOR GOLFERS

Miss Jennie Baker Plays Around the Ladies' Course in 52.

A new record was established for the ladies' course at the Buckleton Links yesterday afternoon. Miss Jennie Baker played the nine holes in 52, the best previous record being 55. Miss Lizzie Schickler was a good second, she making the round in 56, and Miss Bessie Norcross was third. Misses Ella Lane, Mary Richardson, Cathia Fifield, Helen Fifield, Moe Stevens, Genevieve Rich, and Mesdames Charles Fifield, C. P. McLean and John V. Norcross, were the others who returned cards. Several of the players made better scores than were made by the winners a week ago, and the play throughout showed that the ladies have made rapid progress.

A picnic supper was served at 7 o'clock, and the golfers then sat around a fire of oak stumps until 9:30, singing and telling stories of remarkable "drives" and phenomenal approach shots.

WILL CLOSE FOR LABOR DAY

Many Merchants Agree to Let Their Clerks Celebrate Sept. 6.

Mary Janesville merchants have agreed to close on the afternoon and evening of Labor Day. The committee have secured all the clothing merchants' signatures to the petition, all the jewelry stores, all the boot and shoe stores but one, the proprietor of which is out of town, but will undoubtedly agree to close when the matter is presented to him. The committee, which is composed of A. F. Knuth, George Paris and Wallace Watts, will endeavor to get the grocers and other firms to agree to close for the afternoon of Monday, September 6.

FEWER GO TO THE UNIVERSITY

Janesville's Class Will Not Be As Large This Month

Janesville will not send as large a delegation from last year's graduating class to the state university as went from the high school class of '96. In the neighborhood of a half dozen of last year's graduates will enter at the opening of the fall term. Janesville young people who now expect to enter are Misses Susie Lowell, Helen Prichard and Hattie Bostwick and Messrs. Edwin Norcross, Clayton Holmes, J. L. Vankirk and Roy Sanborn.

MANY JAILS OPEN FOR CURTIS

Alleged Forger is in Demand All Through the Northwest.

A. E. Curtis, the forger, who is now in jail here must have been a handy man with the pen. Sheriff Acheson today received a letter from Sheriff Reigan of Cass county, Mich., stating that from the description of the man he is wanted in Cass county on the charge of forgery. They want him, the letter states, just as soon as Rock county gets through with him. Curtis laughs over the letters and says he is getting to be a very popular fellow.

STOCK FREIGHT DISABLED

Engine On O. & N. W. Train No. 578 Laid Up at Jefferson Junction.

Stock freight No. 578 on the C. & N. W. was due last night at 10 o'clock but did not get in until 1:45 this morning. The trouble was caused by the breaking down of the engine at Jefferson Junction. One driver of the engine became detached and fell off. The wrecking crew was sent up from here and the train was pulled through with another engine. No one was hurt and the damage was not great.

BREAD TO GO UP ONE CENT

Janesville Retailers Will Pay Eight Cents For a Double Loaf Hereafter.

Janesville bakers will probably raise the price of bread supplied to the local grocers and restaurant keepers. The raise will be one cent, the retailers paying eight cents in place of seven for a double loaf. "One reason for making this change," said a local baker "is to see if we can get the retailers to sell bread at 10 cents a double loaf the same as we are now doing."

BARLASS OWNS HALL FACTORY

Has Picked Up Enough Stock to Control the Plant.

John T. Barlass is now principal stock holder of the Hall Furniture Co. He has been picking up stock until he is said to own a controlling interest. The factory has during the past few weeks been practically closed, running only at intervals. It is not yet settled when work will be resumed.

PARKER GOING TO KLONDIKE

Former Janesville Barber Will Try His Luck in Gold Fields.

Irwin Parker, a former Janesville barber who is now located in Pasadena, California, writes Arnold Tift of this city, that the opening of spring will see him bound for the Klondike gold region. Barbering in California is all right, but Parker believes there is more money in the Klondike gold fields.

EDWARD M. HYZER TO PRACTICE LAW

HE WILL OPEN AN OFFICE AT MILWAUKEE.

Change Will Not Result in His Leaving This City, and He Will Retain the Management of the Water Company's Business—Home Three Days Each Week.

Edward M. Hyzer, manager of the Janesville Water Company, is to reenter the practice of law, and will open an office in the Goldsmith building, opposite the Pfister hotel, Milwaukee. This move will not make it necessary for Mr. Hyzer to give up his Janesville business interests nor his residence in this city. He will continue to manage the business of the water company, and will spend Saturday, Sunday and Monday of each week in the city for that purpose.

Mr. Hyzer is one of the brightest lawyers of the state. He has been interested, as an attorney, in nearly every case of importance tried in this city since he has been a practitioner. He has been exceptionally successful, and has made his mark in a high place among the lawyers of Wisconsin. Engaging in his profession in a larger field, will give him more ample opportunities than have been offered in Janesville, and that Mr. Hyzer will improve them, and show himself fully equal to any possible legal situation, goes without saying.

There will be no tinge of regret in the well wishes extended to Mr. Hyzer by his many friends, as he will continue to be a resident of this city. His decision to again take up his profession will not mean the loss of the public-spirited services he has rendered to the people whenever occasion has offered.

GARDNER HERE TONIGHT

Karl the Peddler to Be Seen at the Opera House This Evening

The plays that Charles A. Gardner (Karl) produces are like the adage about a certain tippie, "All his plays are good and some are better." "Karl the Peddler," in which Mr. Gardner appears, supported by a company of real actors and singers, is certainly a bright comedy, and the part of "Karl Stein" is a manly German—and portrayed by Mr. Gardner offers him ample opportunity to display his versatility as a comedian and singer, and introduce all of his latest and best songs. His new song, "The Lily," will be hailed as a fit companion to "The Lilac" and "Apple Blossoms." "Capt. Karl's March With Little Heinrich" is always greeted with delight.

REUNION NEAR BELOIT TODAY

Members of the Twenty-Second Wisconsin Infantry Get Together

Beloit, Wis., Sept. 2.—[Special]—About twenty battle-scarred veterans who served in Companies B and I of the Twenty-Second Wisconsin Infantry are holding a reunion at Commodore Lute Meseley's place, two miles west of the city, today.

RAISE IN PRICE OF SASH

Glass is Higher and Local Planing Mill Men Forced to Charge More.

Sash and door manufacturers throughout the state have raised prices and the local dealers have fallen in line. Glass of all description has increased in price, and the stiffening of sash quotations was inevitable.

BITS OF WISCONSIN NEWS

EDWARD ANDERSON, 17 years of age, dropped dead in a drug store at Racine. He had over-exerted himself on his bicycle.

PICNIC AND FLAG RAISING.

Where Will the Celebration in School District No. 5 Be Held?

It is yet unsettled where the picnic will be held in School District No. 5 in the town of Rock, when Old Glory is thrown to the breeze Sept. 11. The committee of ladies differ as to the location. Some want it one mile south of Afton, in a maple grove; some want it held about two miles up on the bank of Rock river near the J. T. Wright factory, and others want it in a beautiful door yard some forty yards west of the school house. All of those places are well adapted for a picnic and the accommodations for a grand outdoor ball are ample at all of the places.

HAMMAS FATTENS IN JAIL

Alleged Horse Thief Gaining Weight With Every Day Behind the Bars.

Henry Hammas, the alleged horse thief appeared in the municipal court this morning for trial and his case was adjourned till Tuesday, September 7. Confinement seems to agree with the prisoner for he looks the picture of health. He still maintains his innocence and says that when the proper time comes he will be able to prove it.

I. O. G. T. PICNIC AT CLEAR LAKE

Lodges From Janesville and Other Near-By Cities Unite.

Two well filled carryalls left the city this morning at 7:30 o'clock, with members of the local I. O. G. T. lodge who spent the day at Clear Lake. Lodges from Edgerton, Milton, Evansville and other near-by points united in the fun. Well filled baskets went a long way towards insuring the success of the outing.

THEIR COSTLY CHICKEN HUNT

Charles C. Gray and His Friends Have Their Buggy Wrecked

Charles C. Gray and a party of friends had rather an expensive prairie chicken hunt yesterday. After leaving town they hitched their horse and proceeded to nearby fields. On returning they found their horse had smashed the buggy so badly that they were obliged to hire a farmer to bring them home.

HORSE HIT BY A FLYING ROCK

Was Standing in Miltimore's Quarry When a Blast Was Fired.

While blasting was going on in the Miltimore stone quarry a large rock struck a horse belonging to Milo Curtis squarely between the eyes. The injury may yet prove fatal. The animal was hitched to a wagon and was standing near when the blasting took place.

NEW PLOTTING OF JAPAN.

Mikado Seeking to Control the Nicaraguan Canal.

Washington, Sept. 2.—According to semi-official advices just received here from Nicaragua, the Japanese government is secretly negotiating with the diet of the Greater Republic of Central America, recently sitting at Salvador, for the construction of the Nicaraguan Canal, independent and in defiance of the interests and influence of the United States or other nations.

That the administration will resent any interference with the Nicaragua Canal project, as it did in the case of the Hawaiian annexation treaty, goes without saying.

H. F. NOTT, Dealer in
Pianos and Organs, Janesville, Wis.:

Dear Sir:—We purchased a Braumuller Fiano about five years ago and can truthfully say that I take pleasure in stating that it has given the most perfect satisfaction in our home. Its capacity for standing in tune is certainly wonderful and the tone today is as good if not better than the day we bought it, and would recommend it to any one wanting a first-class Piano.

Respectfully Yours,

His Plan.

"How is it, colonel?" asked the hopeful young bunco stealer, addressing the hoary-headed master of the craft, "that you have always been so successful in picking out juicy suckers, and never have to waste your time on unprofitable subjects?"

"I simply wait till I hear a man say that he is a pretty good judge of human nature," replied the veteran; "and then I know he is just what I am looking for."—Puck.

That Tree Was Worth Keeping.

"No, sir," said Dr. Jalap, "I wouldn't have that apple tree cut down for any money."

"But you never get any fruit from it," argued Brown. "Boys steal all the apples from it before they are half ripe."

"That's just it," replied the doctor with a quiet smile; "that tree brings me a good $200 every year."—Odds and Ends.

What Mamma Said.

"Dick proposed to me last night."

"What did you tell him?"

"I said he had better ask mamma, and what do you think the wretch said?"

"Goodness knows!"

"He said he had asked her already, and she wouldn't have him."—Boston Beacon.

He Interprets the Contract.

Customer—You remember you sold me this coat yesterday? You said you would return the money if it wasn't satisfactory.

Clothing Merchant—But, my dear sir, it was quite satisfactory; I never had better money as dot in all my life.—Puck.

EXAMINATION FOR POSITIONS

Board of Fire and Police Commissioners To Hold Their First Examination.

The board of fire and police commissioners will meet in the city council chamber October 11, A. D. 1897, at 2 o'clock p. m. for the purpose of examining applicants for positions in the fire and police departments of the city of Janesville. Blank applications and copies of the rules adopted by the board may be obtained from the chiefs of the respective departments. Applications should be filed with the secretary of the board as soon as practicable. The members of the board are anxious to improve, if possible, the efficiency of both departments and solicit applications for positions from good men. The pay is good and the positions permanent.

Everybody Can Be Suited and Still Be In Style.

Any one particular style that happens to be in fashion is sure not to be universally becoming, but by the exercise of a little thought and judgment every woman can select from the prevailing mode such particular characteristics as suit her individuality, thus keeping up to date without sacrificing the attractiveness of her personal appearance. Certain things are becoming only to slender women, certain others only to robust ones. Slender women have it all their own way when ruffings, ruffles and full blouses and basques are in question, but with plain and tailor made gowns and flat trimmings the advantage is on the other side.

This is an epoch when it is possible for everybody to be suited without departing from the mode. The fancy for fluff trimmings, plaitings, ruffles and gathered skirts goes hand in hand with an equally strong appreciation of elegant simplicity, in which the general lines of the figure are unbroken by obtrusive decorations.

A very pretty and youthful gown for a young woman is illustrated. It is of old rose tulle, the skirt being laid in small plaits at the top, simulating a pointed yoke. The bodice is plaited from the waist upward in a similar way, with a corselet effect. The close sleeves have a slight bouffancy at the top and are finished at the wrist with a frill of guipure. A short bolero and epaulets of guipure and a neck frill of the same lace complete the corsage. The soft belt is of old rose surah.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY

1666—The great fire in London began near the Tower; it continued five days, destroying 10,000 houses, besides churches, etc., or five-sixths of the city.
1792—Princess de Lamballe murdered by the mob in the streets of Paris.
1818—Battle of Dresden and mortal wounding of General Jean Victor Moreau.
1870—Surrender of the emperor's army at Sedan: Napoleon delivered his sword to King William and surrendered 4,000 officers, 14,000 wounded and 82,000 fighting men.
1894—The towns of Hinckley, Pokagon and Mission Creek, Mich., destroyed by forest fires; over 450 lives lost and many people injured.
1896—Lorenzo Niles Fowler, the noted phrenologist, died in West Orange, N. J.; born 1811.

STRUCK A DEATH-BLOW.
One of the leaders in the Bryan movement declared a day or two ago that the phrase "a fifty-cent dollar" hit harder than any other argument last fall. What chance would there be now, when the fifty cent dollar has changed to a forty-four cent dollar.

To be sure populists still can hold consistently to their position. The cheaper the dollar the better their argument. They were not for silver until last year, and then supported it only because it cut down the metallic security of government notes 50 per cent.

Whatever the populists may do there is no chance of making new converts, however. Among the millions who objected to the fifty cent dollar were depositors in savings banks, holders of life insurance, persons receiving fixed incomes, and many other classes with a similar interest in a dollar of full value. They are not likely to be any more easily convinced now that the proposed dollar is worth 12 per cent less than in November last. The fact is the old ratio is on its last legs. It is causing a great and general monetary disturbance in Mexico, while China is exporting its silver as fast as it can get rid of it.

WEEP FOR THE UNEMPLOYED.
With farmers clamoring for hands at $2 per day, the number of men who have a legitimate excuse for hanging around the cities in idleness is small indeed.—St. Paul Pioneer Press

This might be true if it were not that somebody has to think and have the leisure for it. Somebody has to stand about and insist that 5,000,000 men are crying for bread and can't get it. The number of the unemployed is never less than 5,000,000 in the statistics of these economists, who toil not, neither do they spin. There is plenty of work to be had, but it never will have any temptation for them. Why should a gentleman of leisure degrade himself to the extent of working for $2 a day when there are plutocrats who are said to get considerably more than that stipend? If there were some way of forcing these plutocrats to work for $2 a day, the prospect would be brighter. The farmers make all the clamor they please, but there are a number of select non-laborers who can never be coaxed into doing any work. It is more fun to sit about and denounce trusts.

WITHOUT AN ISSUE.

It begins to look as if long before the next national conventions are held popocracy will be a party without a policy that it dare to squarely avow. When the Maryland rat got out of the Bryanite ship the other day, as he did in the convention that abandoned silverism, that hulk was seen to be in a very unseaworthy condition. There will be a lively scramble by those who are in it to get out of it in the next two or three years. Hard times and the public discontent produced thereby generated Bryanism, and the latter must disappear with the vanishing of the inciting cause. In Ohio Bryanism is a party with only one issue, while in Maryland it has even abandoned that one. A party which is afraid of its issues is weaker than a party which boldly proclaims bad ones.

Kansas people are reported to be growing "bright, hopeful and sensible." That means they are joining the republican party.

Senator Hill has amended it to "I am a democrat—but I don't know what kind."

Janesville will miss it if the fair project falls through this year.

The Family Friend.

No remedy has a better right to that title than Kickapoo Indian Oil. It is good for internal and external use, and it is pains' most powerful panacea. No one can say "I won't have neuralgia, rheumatism, earache or any other acute pain." But every one who knows there's a bottle of Kickapoo Indian Oil in the house can say: "I won't have neuralgia or any other pain long." The power of this oil over pain is the greatest marvel of modern medicine. It controls pain at once. It cures the cause promptly. There's no remedy reaches so many kinds of pain as

NO FAIR THIS YEAR; M'KEY ANNOUNCES

MERCHANTS FAIL TO COME FORWARD WITH PRIZES

Fifty-Six Have Signed Their Willingness to Help But Nearly As Many More Are Needed to Insure the Success Of the Enterprise.

The fair grounds will be auctioned off to the highest bidder Saturday, and there will be no fair held this year.

The decision as to a fair was reached by Secretary George M. McKey today. He does not feel warranted in going ahead without the backing of Janesville merchants, and only fifty-six merchants have sent in cards with promises to give premiums.

At least a hundred pledges are believed to be necessary, in order that a proper premium list may be arranged.

"I have talked with a number of merchants," said Secretary McKey, today. "A few of them gave me the cold shoulder, and seemed to avoid responsibility, but most of them talked as if they were anxious to have the fair held; so few have sent in cards, however, that I do not feel warranted in going ahead, and it is now too late to make satisfactory arrangements."

"I am very sorry that the fair is not to be held as we had arrangements made to put it through at a very small expense. Much of the labor was to be gratuitous and there seemed to be a feeling on all hands that everybody should put their shoulder to the wheel and make the thing a success. Had the fair been run on that principle I believe we should have had a comfortable margin of profit, going a long way toward paying the floating indebtedness and the interest on the mortgage."

"I suppose there would still be a chance of a fair about Oct. 1, if enough merchants came forward in the next day or two to make up a list of one hundred, but I am afraid this will not be done."

The proposed sale of the grounds on Saturday has attracted considerable attention. Two plans are said to be under consideration by those who talk of buying the grounds. One is to cut the grounds up in building lots; the other to plat half the property and to reserve the other half for a race course.

It is understood that the last valuation of the fair grounds and buildings was made by B. B. Eldredge as assessor in 1888. The grand stand had not yet been built but the property was put down at $15,000.

JANESVILLE SENDS FOOD NOT MONEY

BEANS, FLOUR AND PORK
SENT TO MINERS.

There Was Raised By Contribution in This City $120 and the Cash Was Turned Into Provisions By the Local Committee—Shipment Made Today.

Beans, pork and flour go to the miners from Janesville.

Instead of sending cash, the local committee decided to send provisions. F. M. Marzuff who has charge of the shipment sent $120 worth of the three staples, flour, pork and beans, over the St. Paul road to Spring Valley today.

The money to buy provisions was collected of local merchants and the goods were furnished by Janesville stores at wholesale prices.

Workingmen Not United.

In regard to the proposition to have tomorrow observed as Labor's Good Friday and to have every union labor man give his pay for that day there is some controversy.

J. H. Payne, president of the Chicago Boxmakers' and Sawyers' Union, said: "We are perfectly willing to make such a contribution, but the time is too short."

Thomas Nix of the Building Trades Council said: "Nobody doubts the propriety of contributing to the relief of the miners, and no one is unwilling to do so, but it is clearly impracticable to do so on Friday. The fact is a great many men cannot draw Friday's pay until several days later."

M. J. McCarthy of the Shoemakers' Union said: I am opposed on principle to making such contributions, because I think they degrade the recipients. It makes them objects of charity, and that is beneath the dignity of labor.

WEARS ARMY BLUE TO SCHOOL

J. E. Billman Comes From the Regular Army to Janesville.

J. Erwin Billman still wears the blue of the United States regular army, but sits at a desk in Valentine's School of Telegraphy. Until a month ago Billman was a regularly enlisted man in the government service. He did not serve in the ranks, but was detailed as a teacher in the government school at Fort Trumbull, Conn. When his term of enlistment expired he decided to learn telegraphy and came to Janesville. The suit of army blue which he wears has had the military buttons removed, but was too good a suit to be thrown away and has been the subject of much conjecture from Janesville small boys.

SURPRISE PARTY SURPRISED

Young People Plan to Meet Miss Alice Kimball, But Fail.

At the Clarence Kimball home last evening, there was a general surprise party. Twenty young people assembled at the pleasant Maple Court home, with the intention of surprising Miss Alice Kimball, who was to have arrived on the evening train from Rockton, where she has been visiting. The train arrived, but Miss Kimball was not among the passengers, having failed to reach the depot in time. When the guests were informed of the blunder in the proceedings, their surprise was greater than they had planned for another. They enjoyed the evening thoroughly, however, and farewells were not said until late.

ROBBED J. BRODERICK'S HOUSE

Thieves Break Into the Assessor's Residence By Removing Glass.

There was a robbery in Albany last night that set the police to guessing. James Broderick's house was entered during the night, $200 and several pieces of jewelry being taken. The thieves gained an entrance through a window but nothing was known of their visit until this morning. Janesville police were notified at once by telephone. Mr. and Mrs. Broderick are well-to-do and have been warned by friends that they should not stay alone in the house. Mr. Broderick is the present assessor of the town of Albany.

BENEATH DEATH'S CLOUD

Johnson H. Clemence.

Johnson H. Clemence, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank H. Clemence died last night at 11:15 o'clock, at the tender age of five months. Short funeral services were held from the house this afternoon at 4:30 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Battle Creek, Mich., for interment, leaving on the 7:20 train this evening. O

Miss Marie Williams.

Miss Marie Williams died very suddenly at 2:15 this afternoon. She had been very ill at the home of her sister, Miss Lottie Williams on Madison street, but was supposed to be getting better. She was preparing for a ride this afternoon, when she was suddenly stricken.

Miss Williams was a daughter of S. G. Williams, and until the last few years resided in this city. Of late she made her home in Milwaukee.

Funeral of Mrs. Daniel Scofield.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Daniel Scofield, who died Tuesday evening, was held from the house, 104 South Franklin street, at 2 p. m. today.

ADVANCE IN LUMBER PRICES

But Dealers Do Not Expect '92 Figures to Be Reached.

Lumbermen say that conditions are ripe for an advance in price. The best authorities do not look for a rise this year that '92 prices can be obtained, or that it would be advisable to attempt any radical changes. The present price will hardly cover the cost of lumber, without making up for losses the last few years. The last two winters the different companies have done an enormous amount of logging, forest fires necessitating the cutting of the timber to save it. This will not be the case this year and the operations in the logging line will be very materially curtailed. Abundant logs are left over to stock the mills next year, however.

MRS. STOUT GIVEN DECREE OF DIVORCE

CRUELTY AND INHUMAN TREATMENT ALLEGED.

She and Her Husband, Who Is Now Chief of Police in Oxford Junction, Iowa, Lived Together Only One Year—No Defense Was Made in Court.

Hulda P. Stout and John S. Stout are bound together no longer. A divorce was granted Mrs. Stout today by Judge John R. Bennett. She now resides in Beloit, while her husband, that was, lives in Oxford Junction, Iowa.

There was nothing rash about Mrs. Stout's application for a divorce. The thing has been thoroughly tested by herself and husband.

They have lived apart for seven years, and five years ago a voluntary separation was arranged.

As a matter of fact, Mr. and Mrs. Stout lived together only about one year. She told Judge Bennett that one year was all she wanted. The divorce was granted on the ground of cruelty and inhuman treatment.

The defendant, who made no appearance, is a prominent G. A. B. man, and is now chief of police at Oxford Junction.

Judge Bennett granted a divorce this afternoon to Lestina L. VanNamen from J. Rush VanNamen. The parties were married in Evansville. Cruelty and failure to support was alleged by Mrs. VanNamen, who was represented by E. D. McGowan.

BOUGHT 64,000 BUSHELS HERE

Much Barley Taken on Board the Cars in This City.

Before the buying of barley for Jefferson parties came to an end here, 64,000 bushels had been taken in. They were bought by J. N. Stevens, for the Rudolph Hagar brewery. The highest price paid by Mr. Stevens was 33 cents and the lowest 28 cents. When talking with a Gazette reporter, he said that he was well satisfied with the quality of the barley, and that there were thousands of bushels just as good left in the country.

Three carloads were shipped from Snopiere to Jefferson yesterday, but most of the grain was shipped from Janesville.

Mr. Stevens expects to come back in October to make additional purchases.

A CONFLICT OF EVIDENCE.

BY RODRIGUES OTTOLENGUI
AUTHOR OF "AN ARTIST IN CRIME," ETC.
COPYRIGHT, 1897, BY G. P. PUTNAM'S SONS.

CHAPTER I.—Fifteen years before the opening of the story John Lewis went to live in a place called Lee, in New Hampshire, with a little girl six years old, Virginia, the daughter of his deceased sister. He had a son who had been left at school, but ran away and shipped for China. Five years after Lewis went to Lee a family named Marvel also settled there. Young Walter Marvel met and loved Virginia Lewis. Alice Marvel, Walter's sister, and Harry Lucas also met and were reported to be in love with each other. At the opening of the story a person purporting to be the missing son of John Lewis arrives at Lee. Walter Marvel proposes for Virginia's hand to her uncle, who refuses, telling him that his uncle, whose name he bears, was a villain and a convict. Young Marvel draws a pistol and shoots at Lewis, but his aim is deflected by Virginia. Soon after Lewis is found dead in his room with two bullet holes in his body. His death occurs simultaneously with the arrival of the man who claims to be his son. II.—Mr. Barnes, the celebrated detective, and Tom Burrows, another detective, take up the case, strongly suspecting Virginia as the criminal. III.—They examine the grounds about the house where the murder is committed and find footprints of a man and a woman, the woman's footprints strengthening their suspicions of Virginia. They also find two pistols, one marked "Virginia Lewis," the other marked "Alice Marvel." Virginia writes a letter and goes away with it. Barnes, disguised follows her. IV.—Virginia gives her letter to one Will Everly, who posts it. Barnes keeps it, and it, with the footprints and the pistols (the whereabouts of Walter Marvel, V.—Virginia visits Alice Marvel, who betrays a knowledge of the murderer. VI.—John Lewis, the supposed son of the murdered man, produces evidence addressed to him to prove his identity. He excites suspicion by leaving his room at night. VII, VIII, IX, X.—Barnes arrives at Lee with young Marvel, and an inquiry is held, at which Alice Marvel testifies that she fired one of the shots that killed Lewis, and Virginia confesses that she murdered her uncle, presumably to shield the real murderer. XI, XII, XIII, XIV, and XV.—Virginia is released and Walter Marvel is arrested for the murder. Barnes promises Virginia to try clear her lover and sets about doing so. XVI.—A woman in New York reports at the detective agency there that her husband is missing. Barnes suspects that Lewis who arrived simultaneously with his supposed father's death, is the missing man. Lewis is found dead (a suicide).

CHAPTER XVII.

DETECTIVE BARNES SURPRISES DETECTIVE BURROWS.

"A noble man destroyed by a cruel chain of circumstances," thought Mr. Barnes, as he concluded the perusal of the tale. He then leaned his elbow on the table and, with his mouth partly open, beat a tattoo upon his teeth with his finger ends, a habit of his when lost in thought and intent upon some knotty problem. He sat thus for more than a quarter of an hour, and then muttered:

"I have it. That man's secret shall be preserved."

Carefully placing the document in his pocket, he then gathered up all the writing materials that lay on the table, his idea being to prevent any one from entertaining the suspicion that the dead man had left any telltale writing behind him. Satisfied that this was accomplished, he descended to the room below and awaited the arrival of the squire, who, in due time, came with Virginia, accompanied also by Burrows and Dr. Snow.

"Ah! Mr. Barnes," said the squire, "Virgie tells me that you have solved the mystery of this murder."

"Yes, sir. Chance has favored me, and I am glad that I have succeeded in saving the accused without the necessity of a trial."

"Are you sure you can do that?" asked Burrows.

"Oh, yes. I could demand Marvel's discharge, even though I had not discovered the real murderer, for I have the disguise which he threw into the river, and in the pocket of the vest I found the locket which he said would be there."

Burrows was astounded, but was unwilling to give up his pet theory without a struggle.

"How do you account for the initials of the accused being on the locket found in the dead man's hands?"

"They also appear on the one which I found in the vest and which I have here. You may examine it, and you will observe that it is the facsimile of the other. Thus it is plain that there were originally two, and I presume that by a coincidence these are the initials also of Miss Lewis' mother. She is not certain, as she only knows one of the names, 'Matilda.' The other must have begun with 'W.'"

Mr. Barnes knew better than this, but he had decided to suppress the truth, and therefore he accounted for this point as best he could. He then related the means by which he had recovered the bundle, and Burrows, at the conclusion of his tale, exclaimed:

"Well, Mr. Barnes, you have entirely overturned my theory, and the only satisfaction left to me is that the innocent will not be made to suffer through me."

"Mr. Barnes," said the squire, "you have not told us yet who the murderer is and how you discovered him."

"It is very simple. By an unaccountable prejudice I suspected that this man was not what he claimed to be. You recall his story of having been at school in New York. I repaired thither and learned that no such boy had ever been there. Mr. Lewis, it seems, made a present to the academy years ago, and this man must have found some of the letters which Mr. Lewis received while stopping there, and, using the envelopes to get the dates right, forged the inclosed letters which he showed to you."

"Then you came back here, I suppose, to arrest him?"

"Exactly, and I find him dead. That would seem to prove that he feared discovery and took his life to evade arrest. However, that is not sufficient for me."

I must find out the exact object of this crime and will do so. I promise you that if you will delay the inquest till Tuesday, so as to give me a chance to follow up a clew which I have, I will endeavor to clear up the whole matter."

The squire willingly acquiesced. Mr. Barnes hastened to New York as speedily as possible and learned from the spy that the woman had made no effort to change her place of residence, perhaps realizing the uselessness of so doing after what had taken place in her apartment. He went at once to the hotel, and, sending his name up, was shown into her presence. As soon as he entered she began:

"I do not know why I have allowed you to come up to see me!"

"I do!" replied Mr. Barnes tersely.

"Then tell me."

"Curiosity."

"You are clever. Now, satisfy my curiosity."

"I came here to tell you all that I have discovered."

"Well?"

"I was engaged to find your husband."

"Yes. Go on."

"I have found him."

"Where?"

"Where I told you that I would. He left this city with a murderous intent, and I looked for him in the vicinity of the crime."

"He has not killed any one. I will not believe it."

"No; his guilty plans reacted on himself."

"What do you mean?"

"He is dead."

"Merciful God!"

"Yes; the Almighty has been merciful to him if we consider the wrong that he had done and still meditated. His victims have suffered far more than he. Now, madam, let us come to business at once. You must go with me."

"Go with you? Where?"

"To New Hampshire. Listen! Your husband, as you call him, went up there to commit a crime which he had threatened many years ago—namely, to kill this man Lewis. He reached the house and met Lewis, but the latter had long awaited his coming and was prepared for his arrival. Before your husband could carry out his design a bullet ended his career."

"This is terrible. Why did he go? I warned him that the man would not allow himself to be harmed."

"Ah! Then, as I supposed, you knew his intentions before he went. However, as he did not succeed you cannot be held on that charge. To continue, Lewis, as I have said, killed Marvel. He then succeeded in making every one believe that it was his own body which was found, while he passed off for his son, just returned from sea. This might have been a successful ruse had not a strange chain of circumstances implicated his niece in the affair, and despairing of proving her innocence in any other way he committed suicide, leaving a full confession."

"I don't see what I have to do with all this."

"You will in a moment. If the truth is exposed, the knowledge must come to this girl of who and what her father was, besides the fact that her uncle killed him. This I have determined shall not be. Justice makes no such demand, and I choose to give this girl a future unclouded by such a past."

"How will you hide the truth?"

"I must invent a tale which will fit the circumstances, and you must substantiate the story."

"I will do nothing of the kind."

"Oh! Yes, you shall. You will have no choice in the matter."

"I tell you I will not. Who is this girl? The daughter of the woman who crossed the sea to take my husband away from me."

"You and that man, by your heartless treatment of that woman, hastened, I may say caused, her death."

"What do I care for that? If you think I will help you to spare the delicate feelings of this girl, you do not know me."

"It is just because I imagine that I do know you that I am so confident that you will aid me."

"What do you mean?"

"You must choose between obeying me and absolute poverty."

"How so?"

"I will explain. Marvel married this girl's mother, and she is his child. His wife was alive when you married him, and, according to your confession to her, when she met you in Paris, you knew of this first marriage, but chose to ignore it. If you had been united in this state, I could easily have you imprisoned for that bigamous marriage, but fortunately for you, you were married abroad. However, I will not let you slip through my fingers for all that. I think you did what you attributed to the real wife. You were anxious to share Marvel's position and his fortune, and therefore I believe you will do anything for money. So I intend to manage you through your cupidity. If you persist in your obstinacy, I will reveal all that I have learned and will see that steps are taken to gain possession of Marvel's property for his rightful heir, his daughter. Moreover, you shall be made to give up whatever moneys you now have of his, as they become a part of his estate. This will be simple, for, as you can easily be shown by the records of the Parisian court to be the bigamous wife only, of course you would be entitled to no share in his property."

"How is it that you are so well informed?"

"It is my profession to be well informed. I have no time to spare. Choose!"

"You are a devil!" Then, after a few minutes' hesitation, "What is it that you wish me to do?"

"So! You decide that my way is best, do you? You are wise! Well, then, you will return with me, and on the way I will explain what I require of you. Obey me and no harm shall come to you."

The inquest over the dead body which had been found in the secret room attracted even more interest and a greater crowd than had the first. All looked eagerly forward to the explanation promised by Mr. Barnes, and long were the praises which he received on every side. At length the moment arrived, and the woman whom the detective had brought with him against her will was made to take the stand. Prompted by Mr. Barnes, Mr. Tupper conducted the examination of this witness:

"Will you give your name if you please, madam?"

"Mrs. Horace Paul."

"You have seen the body of the deceased?"

"I have."

"Do you recognize it?"

"I do. It is the body of my husband."

"Can you give any reason why he should have wished to harm Mr. Lewis?"

"He knew Mr. Lewis long ago and did some work for him. My husband was an architect and a practical carpenter. Mr. Lewis engaged him when he first came to this town to build a secret apartment in his house. Mr. Lewis was very anxious that no one should know of this hiding place, and that is why he brought a man from a distant city to do this work. His anxiety to keep his secret, coupled with the fact that he paid my husband an immense sum of money and stipulated that he should never return to Lee, made my husband suspect that it must have been a storehouse for money that he wished to use it. He spoke so often of this that, fearing he might be tempted to investigate it, at length I persuaded him to go with me to Europe. Later, however, he insisted on returning, as we had used up most of our means. I did not believe, after so many years, that he would again think of this 'hidden treasure,' as he was wont to call it."

But now I see it must have been that which brought him here."

After this testimony she was allowed to retire, and Mr. Barnes took the stand to make a statement.

"Before we give this case to the jury I should like to say that I think this man remained after the crime was committed with the intention of searching for the treasure. Mr. Burrows will testify that he heard him in the secret chamber during the first night after the murder. I think he assumed the personality of the dead man's son as the best means of enjoying the fortune which he expected to obtain as well as to avoid suspicion most effectually. Failing to find any treasure or to inherit it under the will, it was still his only means of safety to remain. Fear or remorse at last impelled suicide, a not unusual thing with criminals of an intellectual order."

The verdict of the jury placed the responsibility for the murder on the dead man, and, indeed, though it little understood the true facts of the case, that was where it justly belonged.

There still remained one or two points about which Mr. Barnes felt a curiosity, and at the first opportunity after Marvel's release he questioned him.

"Mr. Marvel," said he, "how is it that you thought that Mr. Lewis was dead, as we supposed him to be when I spoke to you on the vessel at Portsmouth?"

"I guessed it. I had received a letter from Miss Lewis, in which she used the words 'after the events of last night.' I did not quite understand this at first, though I placed no special importance on it until you told me that a murder had been committed. It flashed over my mind in a moment that it was to this that Virgie had alluded, and I feared that she and her uncle had quarreled on her return to the house after leaving me and that in a fit of passion she had killed him. That is why I refused to go back with you. I did not wish to be a witness against her. Afterward it dawned upon me that I myself must have been suspected, or you would never have come after me. Then I was anxious to return."

"That explains the point in question, but there is one other matter. Why was it that Mr. Everly sent you a letter that night and that you went to Epping instead of going to Portsmouth?"

"I formed the idea of going to Portsmouth after I reached the farm that night. Previously I had sent word to Everly, asking him to get some money for me and explaining how he could forward it without betraying my whereabouts. If he had brought it himself, his presence in Epping might have excited suspicion, as he was well known to be my friend. I knew that we could trust the matter to Harrison, and I suggested him as the bearer of the letter and money. To receive these I was compelled to go to Epping."

Some months later Mr. Barnes received cards to the nuptials of Virginia Lewis and Walter Marvel and was pleased to attend the ceremony. The bride and groom went abroad on their honeymoon. A few days after their departure Squire Olney sent to the detective a certified check for $5,000, with the information that it must be accepted from the newly married couple, as Virginia happily expressed it, "in part payment for our happiness, which we enjoy through you." They had delayed making this presentation until they should be out of the country, lest Mr. Barnes might endeavor to return the gift. Appreciating the intentions which prompted its bestowal, Mr. Barnes accepted the money. He is now his own master, being chief of a private bureau which he has established in New York. I may as well mention, also, that Burrows manfully apologized to Mr. Barnes for his actions in this case and was once more received into the good graces of the more experienced detective.

Gazette Job Rooms.

Woman's World.

Her Political Aspirations.

Professor Felix Adler, in an address on "The Political Aspirations of Women," says:

"In no country is there more deference shown to woman than in ours, not alone in the outward exhibition shown them of courtesy, but genuine respect, which comes from all ranks of society. Yet she is denied the franchise, except in a few states, and there her franchise is in most cases confined to local matters."

"Her position, it has been often said, is similar to that of infants, criminals and the insane. Some even go further and say it is worse, for the infant will grow to manhood and inherit the right of citizenship, the sentence of the criminal will expire and his rights be restored to him, and even the insane person may recover his reasoning power and enjoy the franchise again. In no country is there greater liberty, yet it was the intention of our fathers to limit the male voters by a property requirement, which was swept away by a tide of democracy early in the century. Our fathers probably never intended matters to be as they are, but their barriers were unable to stand before the rushing tide of young democracy. Then came the civil war, and the franchise was given to the colored man, yet it is still withheld from half of the population."

"Women need the ballot for self protection. It is true no class can safely trust its interest to another. This is to me one of the convincing arguments in favor of woman suffrage, and I think it should be worked for deliberately and conscientiously. I believe that when the time is ripe they should be participants in the government. I strongly believe that, but I believe the time, however, is not yet ripe."

In conclusion, Professor Adler said that education was the argument to open the gates. Great power, he asserted, did not beget freedom. Whenever there had been great political success there had been great political training."

Women in Public Life.

Mrs. Lucy L. Flower, a trustee of the University of Illinois, writing in The Outlook on "Women in Public Life," says:

"Nine-tenths of our public school teachers are women. Some of the very best and most successful principals are women, and these women should certainly have a representative of their own sex among the school directors, some person or persons who can see and present the woman's point of view. Our state universities are all coeducational, and the interests of the young women in these institutions require representatives on their governing boards."

"If a man be left with a family of girls on his hands to bring up, his helplessness in the face of this responsibility is often truly pitiful. He will generally own frankly that he knows nothing about girls, and he appeals at once for some woman's help. And yet we have been putting the interests of young girls for four of their most impressionable years entirely in the hands of men, though there is a general acknowledgment of man's inability successfully to cope, unaided, with the needs of his own daughters. I believe that if there were more of the right woman's influence in all of our colleges there would be less dissipation, but where there are girls it is a necessity that some one who understands their wants as women—which few men can—should be able to stand for these interests in the councils of the trustees."

An Interesting Reminiscence.

A. Wilder of Newark, N. J., writing to the New York Voice, gives the following reminiscence:

"In the autumn of 1852 the national woman's rights convention was held at Syracuse. I was present and reported the proceedings for the Associated Press. The lights of the cause were present, Lucetta Mott, Paulina Wright Davis, Elizabeth Oakes Smith, Ernestine L. Rose, Clarissa Nichols, Martha Dickinson, Susan B. Anthony, Lucy Stone and Antoinette L. Brown. The latter two had recently graduated from Oberlin. Mrs. Mott presided and displayed parliamentary ability and tact of a superior character. Miss Brown evinced her logical ability, Mrs. Rose her characteristic energy, Miss Stone her readiness and grace of delivery. She was the star, but the others supported her well. This, however, is not the point. There was free speech on all sides, and some of it was very free. Several men were far from complimentary, and the defects, the petty spite and other naughtinesses of women were forcefully depicted. One evening a lady whose name I forget took the platform. 'We read,' said she, 'that God made heaven and earth in six days. Then he created man. After that he created woman from one of his ribs. Now, if that one bone of man is so wicked what must the whole of him be?'"

Queens to Be Crowned.

Miss Lavinia Dempsey, queen of the Society of Holland Dames of the New Netherlands, will be crowned on the next anniversary day, some time next winter. Almost royal state will be attempted, Miss Dempsey riding on coronation day, from her home to the Waldorf in a stately carriage drawn by six white horses bedecked with orange colored ribbons and flowers. The queen of the Connecticut Holland Dames and Mrs. Leonard Fordick, queen of the New Jersey Holland Dames, will also be crowned next winter.

The Society of New England Women intends to give an entertainment in November, and the "Mask of History" will be presented. The central feature will be the representation of events of general and local American history by the descendants of those makers of the nation who participated in them.

Miss Hocart, a daughter of a Wesleyan minister residing in Paris, has been awarded the second of the prizes annually presented by the French academy for "noble living." The award is in appreciation of her work in the slums of Paris and the value of the prize is $300.

WINTER FASHIONS.

Popular Colors—Rich and Elaborate Gowns and Splendid Trimmings.

The fondness for mauve, purple and violet tones by no means abates, and these shades are to be expected as a noticeable feature in fall and winter costumes. Blue also will come in for a large share of popularity.

A great deal of elaboration will be expended on gowns for the coming winter. Indeed elaboration is to form their characteristic. Even cloth gowns are to be trimmed and decorated with the most minute care, and silk and velvet ones will be of unparalleled richness in fabric and trimming. Sumptuousness has been in vogue for several years past, and the reaction to simpler styles might fairly be expected to set in now, but it shows no symptoms of doing so. It is sure to come sooner or later, but in this case it will evidently be much later. It does not seem possible that lace, passementerie and embroideries could be made much richer than they were last winter, but a greater degree of splendor is promised, and really there seems to be no end to possibilities of luxury. There is a limit to poverty, because when a man arrives at a certain degree of it he dies of starvation and cannot become any poorer, but a man may grow richer and richer and remain alive to grow richer yet.

The manufacture of these costly and intricate adornments gives occupation to an immense number of persons, and the fact that such things are fashionable is therefore one at which to rejoice. When wealthy people take to saving their money instead of spending it, it means hard times for poor people.

The picture shows a traveling costume of brown and white shepherd's check woven goods. The skirt is trimmed at the side with a band of white cloth which is fastened down by pearl buttons and brown cord. The close bodice of checked goods is bordered with white cloth trimmed with buttons and cord and opens over a full chemise of white surah. The epaulets and the sleeves at the wrist are trimmed with white cloth, buttons and cord. The belt is of brown kid.

Good Printing...

Is like good painting—it demands and obtains a second glance. The second glance leads to thought about and knowledge of the thing portrayed, and then on to the artist or advertiser.

The kind of printing as well as the kind of painting that it pays to do and to have done is that which obtains this "second glance." Plenty of the other kind!

We are PRINTERS. Our work obtains glances of admiration, and thus leads on to the end desired. We don't do the "other kind." Put our job room to the test.

Fall Dress Goods....

The novelties will soon be here. Mr Simpson is now in New York looking up the latest, and the result will be seen very soon in the dress goods department. Plain weaves promise to be most favored and there will be an excellent showing of the new things. A large line of pattern dress lengths will be a feature of the line which will insure every lady something different from her friends, and, at the same time, something out of the ordinary. The importers never displayed as large a line as this season's, and it will be well to wait and see the latest. We will advise you as soon as they arrive.

FANCIES AND FACTS.

Red Shoes—About Cramped Feet—Suede Gloves Again Popular.

There seems to be dawning a possibility of draped skirts. A new model for winter shows a skirt with a ruffled panel at one side, over which is carried a short drapery, pannier fashion. It is to be hoped that this is not to be taken as a prognostic of what will prevail. Plain skirts are so much lighter and prettier.

Red leather shoes worn with red silk stockings are a fancy of the moment in Paris and are effective with white, black, gray or red costumes.

The less a shoe cramps and confines the foot the better it is for the foot. Cramping is caused by other faults of footgear than

Must Not Interfere.

Washington, Ind., Sept. 2.—Judge Hebron has granted a temporary restraining order against strikers to prevent them from interfering with men who want to work in the Cabel mines. The hearing is set for Friday. There is considerable ill feeling in mining circles on account of the restraining order.

Hohenlohe Is Soon to Retire.

London, Sept. 2.—The Mail's Berlin correspondent says it is stated that it has been practically settled that Prince Hohenlohe, the imperial chancellor, will retire in October.

Wheat Area Is Increased.

London, Sept. 2.—The Times' Buenos Ayres correspondent says that reports from all agricultural centres indicate an increase of fully 20 per cent. in the wheat area of the country.

BLACK COSTUME.

narrowness or shortness, and no matter how large a shoe is the foot is confined if the leather is stiff, impermeable and unyielding.

Glance kid gloves, so fashionable for several years past, are to take an inferior position again in favor of suede, but they are by no means abandoned as yet. The real reason of the sudden rise into favor of glance gloves was doubtless the fact that white gloves became fashionable for calling and street wear, and as white suede can be worn but once while glance kid can be cleaned at home and worn repeatedly the superiority of glance gloves became at once obvious. Now that white is being superseded by colors again suede is regaining its vogue.

The picture shows a costume of black satin. The skirt has a demitrain and is trimmed with lines of jet passementerie outlining the tablier and surrounding the foot of the skirt above the three very narrow, scant ruffles that edge it. The pointed bodice is close fitting at the back, opening in front over a plastron covered with scant satin ruffles. The bodice is embroidered with jet and has a pointed yoke and epaulets of jet. The close sleeves are also jet embroidered and have five scant ruffles at the top. The hat of black velvet is trimmed with black ostrich plumes and a jet buckle.
